

PACKING LIST

WILD FRONTIER OUTFITTERS SELF-GUIDED HUNT

WHAT YOU SHOULD BRING

- Rifle & ammo (20 round minimum in case gun must be sighted in)
- Hunting license, tags & permits
- Binoculars (recommended in chest harness)
- Sleeping bag (compressed, 0 degree)
- Sleeping pad (lightweight inflatable like Nemo Tensor)
- Day pack (medium to large size to help pack animal and gear)
- Water bottles (Nalgene or Platypus style)
- Breathable waders (good ones) and wading boots: NO FELT SOLES per Alaska regulations. And no spikes please.
- Portable batteries for charging phones and other electronics
- Headlamp with batteries
- Aluminum trekking poles (helps with heavy meat loads)
- Bug repellent & head net (*This is a must. Bring back ups.)
- Knives (small fixed blade & replaceable blade Havalon)
- Toiletries (include small pack of wet wipes and gallon zip locks)
- Camera & small video camera to document adventure
- Several smaller lightweight dry bags for storing clothes in duffel
- Garmin InReach communicator & satellite phone
- Lightweight tripod for attaching binoculars for glassing
- Small mixed bag of common medicine like ibuprofen and Tums
- Good book you have been meaning to read
- Camp pillow (or use your clothes)
- Lightweight tarp shelter for glassing in bad weather
- Spotting scope (needed to judge legal bull)
- Game bags (8-10 per moose, use light ones)
- Plastic garbage bags (packing wet items upon return)
- Jetboil or similar backpack stove & fuel
- Small fishing rod & tackle (excellent fishing in area)
- Hand, foot and/or body warmers

* We recommend not exceeding 50-60 lbs. of personal gear.

CLOTHING FOR HUNTING IN ALASKA

Weather in Alaska is constantly changing. With that being the case, the “layering system” is the best strategy to staying comfortable & safe.

Layer 1: We recommend starting off with a synthetic or synthetic wool blend base layer.

Layer 2: An alternate layer could be a medium to heavyweight wool or synthetic sweater or pullover. Fleece garments are a great choice also.

Layer 3: Can be a fleece, wool, or synthetic fiber jacket. Avoid cotton materials.

Final layer: Waterproof rain jacket. This is your most important article of clothing. We recommend high quality Gore-Tex type products which protect you from wind and rain.

- Soft shell jacket (quick drying with multiple pockets & pit vents)
- High quality wool socks & liner socks (5)
- Quick drying synthetic or wool pants (2-3 pairs)
- Puffy jacket & pants
- Performance type underwear for comfort & moisture control
- Base layers (2-3)
- Lightweight Long Johns (KUIU zip off bottoms are incredible)

- Fleece or wool top/jacket/pullover (2)
- Waterproof rain jacket, Gore-Tex & Helly Hansen/Grundens backup (2)
- Hat, beanie, neck gaiter (bundle up for glassing)
- Mittens (KUIU or First Lite glassing mittens are great)
- SHOWA 282-02 waterproof gloves (keep hands warm and dry)
- Camp shoe/slip-on Crocs type shoe (1)
- Insulated hiking boots (such as Crispi guide boots)
- Boot gaiters (recommend KUIU)

Please do not hesitate to call or email us with questions:

Jim Hakin | 775.223.1272 | jhakin007@hotmail.com

Bill Betts | 907.671.7081 | bill@iliamnariverlodge.com

Chad Hewitt | 503.720.5063 | chad@rainbowriverlodge.com

Melanie Betts | 719.371.1318 | mel@iliamnariverlodge.com

WHAT WE PROVIDE

- Transportation via De Havilland Beaver or Piper Super Cub
- NRS self-bailing 14' rafts, rafting equipment & PFDs (if doing a float)
- Cooking supplies: stoves, propane, pans, plates, cups, utensils, coffee press, paper towels, cutting board, wash basin
- Water purifier
- NRS 110L dry bags (you will transfer all of your personal clothes/equipment into these bags)
- Bear proof containers for storing food
- Tall cots & minimalist sleeping pads (recommend bring your own)
- Cabela's Alaska guide dome tents
- Foldable toilet and toilet paper
- Camp chairs

FOOD SUGGESTIONS

Weight matters when packing food for 12 days of hard hunting in the Alaska bush. We use high-calorie, nutrient-dense freeze-dried meals (e.g., Mountain House or Peak Refuel), along with calorie-rich snacks and simple breakfasts and lunches. For dinners, consider a mix of freeze-dried and easy-to-prepare meals. Contact us for meal ideas, or we can provide food for an additional fee.

* Please return equipment in clean condition & notify us of any damage/loss.

LEGENDARY HUNTING IN THE HEART OF REMOTE ALASKA